[8]

Helicopters are very different from airplanes. First, when airplanes move upward, they must also move forward, but helicopters can move straight up without moving ahead. Second, helicopters can fly backward, which airplanes cannot do. Third, helicopters can use their rotors to hover in the air which is impossible for planes. Because helicopters can perform actions that airplanes cannot, they are used for different tasks. Since helicopters can take off without moving forward, they do not need a runway for takeoff. They are used in congested areas where there is no room for airplanes or in isolated areas which do not have airports. Because they can hover, they are used on firefighting missions to drop water on fires. Helicopters are used as air ambulances to airlift patients out of situations which are difficult to reach by conventional ambulances.

Questions 1. Why don't helicopters need runways?
Ans:
2. How are helicopters used as ambulances? Ans:
